Innovation in School Education Ecosystem

All progressive schools, school owners and most importantly school leaders and teachers constantly work towards creating a better learning environment for the students. We all believe and hope that our students should become lifelong learners and their knowledge should continue to evolve. Similarly, we as educators should also make it a point to keep learning and improving.

"Education about Innovation is something that everybody talks about but the time has come when we need to talk about Innovation in Education."

We need to focus on creating a learning ecosystem for all. Our goal should be capacity building with an emphasis on the adoption of new techniques, collaborations and building partnerships with stakeholders at multiple levels. We should work and encourage organizations that provide resources to K-12 school leaders around the world as they address the unique needs of their schools in a changing educational and technology landscape.

By positioning ourselves as a leader in launching improvement initiatives in our schools we can actually become the change agent and we will be able to justify our contribution to the Ever-Evolving Education Ecosystem.

Through the upcoming editions of the School Innovation Summit, we will learn about the latest trends in the ecosystem and take back with us the skills and initial framework to:

- Bring people together around ideas they care about.
- Define a vision and create coherence
- Start with a new instructional improvement initiative
- Work together through challenges and successes
- Measure progress and adjust along the way

Be a part of the most trusted and sought-after Gathering of School Leaders

At a time when the school sector is forced to adapt and continue to navigate through its most challenging period to date, now, more than ever, school leaders are seeking the solutions needed that align with their business goals in order to continue delivering excellence across their schools.

In the upcoming editions of the School Innovation Summit, we have tailored our platform to offer the ultimate networking experience, ensuring your brand is at the forefront of over 200+ senior school leaders so you can steer the conversations and build key relationships for future business opportunities, all under one roof.

Face to Face is More Effective: One of the most valuable experiences the School Innovation Summit can offer is face-to-face communication with prospects and professionals. Engaging with someone in person to close sales or discuss business opportunities is more effective than through email or phone.

By Sponsoring you can elevate your brand to a larger, more diverse audience, showcase your latest products and services, and provide thought leadership so you can achieve your year-round business objectives and work towards your vision

By Exhibiting you will make new contacts, generate leads, share best practices & guidance, and identify current and emerging opportunities in the education sector.

By Nomination and being awarded, you can share experiences with others in the field, create role models and establish platforms for change while bringing people together over common interests and passions.

01

RAISE YOUR PROFILE

Specifiers and influencers attend the exhibition to find ideas for upcoming projects or existing establishments. Get noticed showcasing and raising your profile in the education sector

02

SHOWCASE BEST PRACTICE

Use your stand to demonstrate the expertise that your company can bring to transform the School Ecosystem.

03

DEVELOP & GROW YOUR NETWORK

Build relationships to ensure that you are considered at the earliest stage for new projects - whether new builds or refurbishments.

04

INTRODUCE NEW PRODUCTS & SERVICES

There is no better way to introduce your brand-new product or service to the public than at an established event such as the School Innovation Summit with product demonstrations.

05

GENERATE NEW BUSINESS

Meet with specifiers, project teams, clients and key decision-makers in the education sector and start discussing how you can help them to achieve excellence.

06

RETURN ON INVESTMENT

Showcasing at School Innovation Summit brings you qualified and high-value education contacts.
